Reports at Houston

GO TO SOME SEAPORT

Officials Refuse to Make Any Statement on Rumor.

The following from a Houston paper indicates that the Troops there, of which former Co. C is a part, will soon be moved:

The 33rd Division will soon be saying goodbye to Houston, according to reports.

While no statement will be issued by the commanding officers at the camp as to the exact date of departure or the place of destination there are unmistakable signs that moving day is not far off for the Illinois contingent.

Army orders will present the publication of the date the troops are to entrain and the only statement permissible, under war department regulations, will be that they have started for some place in the U. S. which, it will be safe to infer, will be at or near some seaport.

The departure of the 33rd Division will not mean that Camp Logan will not continue to be the center of military activity. The Illinois division will be replaced by a regular army division. This division will be formed around the cavalry brigade recently brought here and changed into provisional artillery.

The forming of the division will mean the splitting up of many regular organizations as a number of old timers will be needed to facilitate the training of the recruits and drafted men, which will make up the big majority of the units that will support the 33rd Division.

Dixon Girl Party to "Quiet" Wedding At Camp Logan; Given Real Reception

Houston, Tex., Nov. 19.—Lieut. Norman Zolla of the 131st Field Hospital company was quietly married Saturday morning at Camp Logan.

Lieutenant Zolla believes in publicity. For some time he has had an official press agent to feed accounts of the doings of his company to the daily press.

But when it came to marrying pretty, blue-eyed Miss Mary Agnes McGinty, the lieutenant expressed a desire for a quiet wedding. Most bridegrooms do.

Miss McGinty came down from Chicago and arrived Saturday morning. She is a Dixon, Ill., girl, a trained nurse who has served in the British base hospitals at the front.

Capt. John O'Hearn, division chaplain, performed the ceremony in the tent of Col. Daniel Moriarity, commander of the division trains, of which Field Hospital No. 131 is a unit. "Colonel Dan," the beloved old commander of the former Seventh infantry, gave away the bride. Maj. Gustavus M. Blech, assistant division surgeon, formerly commander of the hospital command, was best man.

Up to the point of the blessing of the wedded couple the ceremony was like any other military wedding with Catholic rites. From that point it was somewhat different.

Before the ceremony a graphophone played "Those Irish Eyes of Blue." After the ceremony the division train band, formerly the Seventh infantry band, played "The Wearin' of the Green," and other melodies they thought appropriate.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Zolla got into a motor car to go to the Brazos hotel. The band marched down the street ahead of the car playing. At Young Men's Christian Association No. 50 the band dropped out. Lieutenant Zolla was seen to sigh with relief.

As they turned toward Washington avenue a car dashed in ahead of them. It held three trumpeters and

ROBBERS AT PARKER HOME LAST NIGHT

Robbers entered the residence of Dr. W. R. Parker, 703 Peoria avenue, between midnight and morning, while the family slept, and stole Mrs. Parker's purse containing $25. They had wrapped up three suits of underwear and two of Dr. Parker's overcoats preparatory to taking them but evidently were frightened away before they could return for the package. The doctor's trousers, which they carried down stairs, were poorly searched, for the thieves overlooked a purse containing $16 and his gold watch, contenting themselves with taking a five-cent piece from his change pocketbook.

EIGHT YEAR OLD BOY GAVE ONE DOLLAR TO THE
Y. M. C. A. FUND.

While canvassing in Nelson township Monday afternoon for funds for the Y. M. C. A. army work, Dixon men were witnesses of a heart-touching incident in which a little eight-year old lad gave them a demonstration of patriotism that would shame many older people. The lad, Lloyd Seibert, running up to the car, stood silently by until one of the men asked him if he could do anything for him, at which he enquired enthusiastically "Can I give something for the war?" With his question he timidly tendered a silver dollar. The desire of the little fellow to help made a decided impression on the men, and he was given a Y. M. C. A. War Work receipt for his contribution.

YOUNG SHOPLIFTERS WORKING IN DIXON

STOLE STICK PINS AND WATCHES FROM F.
OVERSTREET.

F. Overstreet has been victimized twice within the past few days by youthful shoplifters, as a result of which he has established a watching system in his store which he thinks will bring about the apprehension and arrest of the new party or parties who attempt the game in his store. Missing the pins, he set out to find the boys, and after several stout denials that they were guilty, they admitted the theft and returned the stolen articles. Yesterday, lads stole some watches while he was untangling some watch chains, and the irate jeweler is now planning to report them to the authorities unless the property is returned at once.

Red Cross Notes.

A box of knitting was received Saturday at the Red Cross shop from Lee Center containing the most beautiful knitted articles, the majority of which were socks. Be it said to the glory of the Lee Center ladies that they do not shun the most difficult of knitted articles and make them so smoothly that it will be a joy to the soldiers to have to wear them. The Lee Center ladies do the knitting under the supervision of Mrs. Egan of Amboy.

The shop shipped three boxes of knitted articles to Chicago headquarters Saturday.

An outside chapter has been passing around the story that the hospital supplies output of the Dixon chapter was returned for remaking, and as an answer to this slander—which of course is not true, not one word of it—the Dixon chapter is sending to its slanders the letter received from Chicago headquarters about the last shipment, five boxes of surgical supplies and hospital garments saying that the work was inspected and found very excellent.

Holland, who have made a large place for themselves in the affection of the people of the church and will be greatly missed. The parlors were handsomely decorated for the occasion with maroon and white chrysanthemums and ferns. In the early evening Mr. A. H. Stoddard gave a charming program of organ music, closing with the Star Spangled Banner, in which all united in singing. Forty Years' Success.
For a business to be successful for forty years means a great deal. Among other things, it means remarkable excellence in the products it sells. No inferior article can be sold on a large scale for so many years; and it must not only be good at the outset, but so good that the progress of forty years shall not develop any better article to supersede it.

So women can, with confidence, depend upon that old, tried and tested remedy for woman's ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, still as popular as ever, though it was placed on the market before the centennial year, 1876.

Not So Sure.
The secretary of a social club was presented a cut-glass loving cup. His servant surveyed the object the next morning. "Look at this third hand on the pitcher," said Bridget. "They know if I break one of them handles they'll have two left, and if I break two they'll have one left, so they'll always have one. They will, will they; I'm not so sure about that."

A Double Header.
Wesley had been told that two engines pulling one train is called a double header. Recently he attended a wedding where two sisters married two brothers, both brides being given away by their father. As the wedding procession advanced with the brides in the lead he excitedly exclaimed: "Oh, look, mamma! Here comes a double header of brides."

Adam's Ale as a Beautifier.
Of course, you know that you never will have a clear white skin unless your diet is right. It is most important to drink plenty of water, from six to eight glasses at intervals during the day. You should avoid rich pastry or sweets, and see that your diet consists as much as possible of simple, easily digested foods. Fresh air and exercise will also help to improve the complexion.—Exchange.

Perfecting Fireproof Paper.
Documents written on paper made from asbestos fiber, with inks prepared from the nitrates of iron and cobalt, have withstood a red heat for two hours without being damaged in any way. No damage resulted until the intensity of the heat was increased considerably and the document was exposed in it for ten hours. It is expected that further experimentation and study will result in the perfection of a paper and ink practically indestructible by fire.

USE FT. SHERIDAN FOR ALIENS

Rumor Says It Will Be Turned Into Detention Camp.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Fort Sheridan may be turned into a German detention camp, according to the latest rumors. Officers at the camp refuse to comment on the report. Large quantities of lumber have been ordered sent to the fort, it is said. This will be used to erect a stockade on which barbed wire will be placed. Already a large number of alien enemies and slackers are being held in the guardhouse at Fort Sheridan instead of being sent to Fort McPherson, Ga., as was first intended.

New York, Nov. 20.—Fire broke out this morning between docks on the United States army transport Pastorious, tied up at army dock No. 1, River street, Hoboken, on which some Germans had been held during the recent round-up here. The fire was discovered at 12:15. Twenty minutes after the fire was discovered it was seen coming from widely separated parts of the ship, and in half an hour it seemed that she was afire from stem to stern.

American Field Headquarters, France, Nov. 20.—American artillery observers are under fire in French observation "sausage" balloons. Accompanied by French "teachers," the Americans are learning under actual battle conditions the game of aerial observation, the ranging of artillery and the spying out from above of German battle tactics.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 20.—Preparations for winter were begun actively by the American troops. Various units have been ordered to cease drills temporarily on account of this work. The principal tasks are found in the towns, where the soldiers are billeted in buildings which are draughty and in some cases damp. The weather has been cold and wet for the last few weeks, and the troops welcomed the opportunity to provide for their own comfort.

KEEPING THE SOLDIERS FIT.

Contributors to the Y. M. C. A. fund of $35,000,000, of which Dixon's apportionment is nearly $10,000, will feel a particular interest in knowing that their money goes to our own men in this country and overseas, to the men of the Russian, French and Italian armies and to the prisoners in the war camps.

The Y. M. C. A. red triangle buildings are non-sectarian and non-denominational and men of every color, class or creed find an equal welcome.

We may think we have gone the limit in this country in giving to patriotic causes but we have only scratched the surface.

Before the end of the third year of the war Canada had given $70,000,000 for patriotic funds and if we follow her example in proportion to population and wealth we will give a billion.

The people of Australasia have contributed $2,000,000 to the work of the Y. M. C. A. and if we give in proportion we will raise not $35,000,000 but $40,000,000.

The remark is often made that the people here will be more effectively aroused when the death lists begin to come in and the wounded men return home.

Did you ever stop to think that your contribution to this cause might save a man from death by making him more fit for fighting?

THINGS THE WAR CANNOT DESTROY.

The December Woman's Home Companion says:

"The war, with all its changing effort, and need and sorrow and sacrifice, and massive endeavor, will pass by at last, and new problems will confront us; but the old human brotherhood, devotion, kindness, understanding, gentle wisdom, self-forgetfulness, and high endeavor—these will remain on, permanent and full of promise to the soul. It is these I would ask you not to forget or ignore in planning for your soldiers' Christmas, nor in spending your own Christmas here at home: some gift and salutation for the spirit, and some generous spending of your own spirits, some giving, on our own part, of the very things our men have many of them given, for our sakes, and so generously.

"Always I take a look each year at the unchanging Christmas stars; the same through so many, many changing ages, shining like symbols of the lovely things of the spirit that endure; but it seems to me they will mean more to me this Christmas than ever they have meant before, when I shall remember—as how, indeed, could we forget—the thousands upon thousands of soldiers who under what changed and changing conditions are maintaining the old and lovely things that endure, and who are perhaps looking up at the Christmas stars also."

LOYALTY AND UNITY.

Barney Cohen, director of labor of the State of Illinois, addressed the general convention of the American Federation of Labor at Buffalo, New York, today, and among other wise and good remarks, he said:

"We of Illinois have seen our governor take a fair and firm stand on all labor problems. He has asked for liberal legislation for all workers; he has insisted that the working man carry out his contracts with the same thoroughness required of a contractor under bond. He has given the big problems of child labor, workmen's compensation, social insurance and the other vital movements affecting the labor movement thorough study and is today, I believe, as well posted on the needs of labor as is any member of our Federation.

"This is the time for us to be loyal to those who are loyal to us, for getting petty differences and putting in the background many things that might, under other conditions, have been matters of controversy on the basis of a serious dispute or even a strike. Our Allies have set an example of loyalty in the labor movement, by overlooking past quarrels and doing everything possible to further harmony and increase production. We should loyally work for steady output, for it is what is produced that is needed that will help to win the war."

LINEN SHORTAGE.

The world shortage in linen is acutely felt in the United States. The sequence of the situation is that it will soon be out of the question to get many things in linen that have always been furnished in that material at the stores.

Housekeepers should mark this situation in their minds and husband their linen supplies in what they already have on hand. Tablecloths, for instance, should be used with care, and mended when they show signs of giving out, instead of being allowed to get into too bad order for disposal. It will not be possible to replace them excepting with cotton. Linen napkins may be hard to get before we are through. It will be three or four years, in all probability, before a normal supply of linen is available again. Linen cloths too far gone for service should be converted into napkins, for it will not be possible long to get napkins.

In addition to the inability to get supplies of flax from some of its principal sources while the war lasts, a blight has come over the flax crop. Many localities are no longer able to raise it. This aggravates the rest of the calculations.

THIS TICKLES THE KAISER.

"Special success," cried the overjoyed Prussian junkers not long ago as they flashed to the world a bulletin report of one of their London bomb raids:

And this was the cause of their glee:

ALLIES SINK 5 SUBMARINES IN ONE DAY

Premier Lloyd-George Tells Commons U-Boat Peril Is Ended.

DEFENDS HIS PARIS SPEECH

Declares He Acted to Arouse Public in France, Italy and America—Pershing Backs Interallied War Council.

London, Nov. 20.—Five German submarines were destroyed on Saturday alone, Premier David Lloyd-George told the house of commons. The premier added that he had no further fear of submarines.

These statements were made during the debate in which Mr. Lloyd-George fought the fight of his political life.

The opposition against the premier, headed by former Prime Minister Herbert Asquith, apparently switched places since last week's opening fire on Mr. Lloyd-George, and today, when Mr. Asquith summed up against his successor, he centered his fire not so much on the proposed supreme interallied war council, which it was feared would change the British army system, as on Lloyd-George's "brutally frank" Paris speech.

Speech Not Impulsive.

Responding, Mr. Lloyd-George declared his Paris speech was "not an impulsive one."

"It was carefully considered and submitted to the cabinet," he added. "I resolved to assume the risk in order to arouse public sentiment, not merely here but in France, Italy and America."

The new scheme had been launched, he declared, in an indictment of the general strategy of the allies, on the ground that it had been in several instances dilatory or misdirected.

Taking up Mr. Lloyd-George's "brutally frank" speech, the opposition vigorously criticized the premier's statement that the allies were on toward Serbia and had been "an ineffable success."

"Such a statement is unjust to the allies' state," he asserted.

Hampers the Allies.

"The allies' consultative machinery has been inadequate and its effects grievous," replied the premier, opening his defense.

MOVE CHILDREN FROM WAR ZONE

British Headquarters in France—Correspondence of Associated Press—Several hundred Belgian children, who are now living in the danger zone close to the fighting line, in the immediate future will be established in safe and comfortable quarters in a colony of their own. This is being prepared by the American Red Cross at certain places in free Belgium. Sections for ten barracks were shipped from Paris yesterday, and under the supervision of Messrs. Bicknell and Van Schaick these will be set up at once, and the little folks moved in.

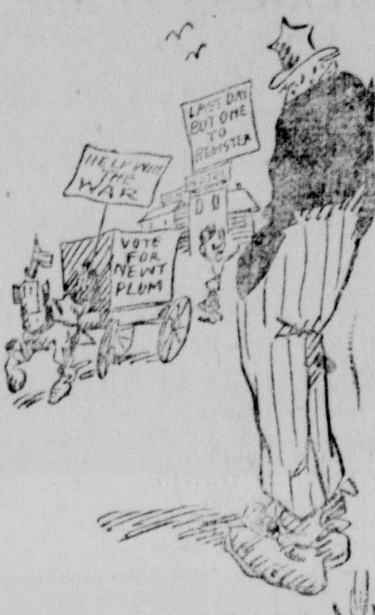

Here they will be given comforts they have not known since the Germans overran Belgium and in addition will be placed under competent teachers, who will pick up the broken threads of their education. Six thousand Belgian children already have been sent to homes in various parts of France, and there are many more who are being sheltered, bombed and gassed almost every day, and taken to safer quarters.

The new colony is being established to meet the growing demand for refuge on Belgian soil. There are several strong reasons for this demand. One is that the Belgian authorities like to hold together what is left of Belgium as much as possible. The wonderful hospitality of allied countries is appreciated and the sentiment is strong for the retention in Belgium of as many people as practicable. Another vital factor is the fact that mothers are reluctant to let the children go so far away that they can not visit them. To meet all of these demands the Red Cross is establishing the colony in the safest place available in free Belgium, where it will be possible for parents to see the children often.

Education will be in the hands of the nuns, but numerous advanced ideas suggested by the Red Cross will be included in the curriculum. One thing which has pleased the little Belgians has been the introduction of instructional games in various homes. A short time ago a car load of games was sent to the Belgian asylums, in France and beneficial results were to be seen immediately. The same system will be employed in the new colony. The same system will be employed in the new colony. The idea is to interest the children in sports which will not only amuse them, but will train them both mentally and physically.

The Belgian authorities are giving the heartiest support to the Red Cross. The Queen is deeply interested in the new work, and is making a special study of American educational methods. A plan for the establishment of warehouses in which reserve foodstuffs may be stored is being worked out rapidly. Three sectional warehouses have been set up already and six more will be on the way from Paris soon. A considerable amount of

CHAPTER VII.

Each In His Own Trail.

SINCE nothing in this world is absolutely immutable—the human emotions least of all—perhaps—Billy Louise did not hold chancelless her broken faith in Ward. She saw it broken into fragments before the evidence of her own eyes and the fragments ground to dust beneath the weight of what she knew of his past—things he had told her himself. So she thought there was no more faith in him, and her heart went empty and aching through the next few days.

But, since Billy Louise was human and a woman—not altogether because she was twenty—she stopped after awhile, gathered carefully the dust of her dead faith, and, like God, she began to create. First she fashioned doubts of her doubt. How did she know she had not made a mistake, there at that corral? Other men wore gray hats and rode dark bay horses; other men were slim and tall, and she had only had a glimpse, after all, and the light was deceptive down there in the shadows. When that first doubt was molded and she had breathed into it the breath of life so that it stood sturdily before her she took heart and created reasons, a whole company of them, to tell her why she ought to give Ward the benefit of the doubt. She remembered what Charlie Fox had said about circumstantial evidence. She would not make the mistake he had made.

So she spent other days and long, wakeful nights. And since it seemed impossible to bring her faith to life again just as it had been, with the glamor of romance and the sweetness of pity and the strength of her own innocence to make it a beautiful faith indeed, she used all her innocence and all her pity and a little of romance and created something even sweeter than her untried faith had been. She had a new element to strengthen it. She knew that she loved Ward. She had learned that from the hurt it had given her to lose her faith in him.

That was the record of the inner Billy Louise which no one ever saw. The Billy Louise which her little world knew went her way unchanged except in small details that escaped the notice of those nearest her. A look in her eyes for one thing; a hurt, questioning look that was sometimes rebellious as well; a droop of her mouth also when she was off her guard; a sad, tired little droop that told of the weight of responsibility and worry she was carrying.

Ward observed both the minute he saw her on the trail. He had come across country on the chance that she might be riding out that way, and he had come upon her unawares while she and Blue were staring out over the desert from the height they had attained in the hills.

"Lo, Bill!" he said when he was quite close and held himself ready to meet whatever mood she might present.

She turned her head quickly and looked at him, and the hurt look was still in her eyes; the droop still showed at her lips. And Ward knew they had been there before she saw him.

"What's molla, Bill?" he asked in the tone that was calculated to invite an unburdening of her troubles.

"Oh, nothing in particular! Mommie's been awfully sick, and I'm always worried when I'm away from the ranch for fear she'll have another spell while I'm gone. The doctor said she might have any time. Were you headed for our place? If you are, come on. I was just starting back. I don't dare be away any longer." If that were a real unburdening Ward was an unreasonable young man. Billy Louise looked at him again, and this time her eyes were clear and friendly.

Ward was not satisfied, for all the surface seemed smooth enough. He was too sensitive not to feel a difference, and he was too innocent of any wrongdoing or thinking to guess what was the matter. Guilt is a good barometer of personal atmosphere, and Ward had none of it. The worst of him she had known for more than a year. He had told her himself, and she had healed the hurt—almost—of the past by her firm belief in him and by her friendship. Could you expect Ward to guess that she had seen her faith in him die a violent death no longer than two weeks ago? Such a possibility never occurred to him.

For all that he felt there was a difference somewhere. He carried back with him a fit of the blues which seemed to have attacked him without cause or pretext, since he had not quarreled with Billy Louise and had been warmly welcomed by "mommie." Poor mommie was looking white and frail, and her temples were two distinctly veined with purple. Ward told himself that it was no wonder his Wilhelmia acted strained and unnatural. He meant to work harder than ever and get his stake so that he could go and make her give him the right to take care of her.

He began to figure the cost of commuting his homestead right away, so that he would not have to "hold it down" for another three years. Maybe she would not want to bring her mother so far off the main road. In that case he would go down and put that Wolverine place in shape. He had no squeamishness about living on her ranch instead of his own if she wanted it that way. He meant to be better "hooked up" financially than she was and have more cattle when he put the gold ring on her finger. Then he would do whatever she wanted him to do, and he would not have to crucify his pride doing it.

You see, they could not have quarreled, since Ward carried castles as well as the blues. In fact, their parting had given Ward an uneven pulse for a mile, for Billy Louise had gone with him as usual as far as the corral when he started home. And when Ward had picked up his reins and turned to put his toe in the stirrup Billy Louise had come close—to his very shoulder. Ward had turned his face toward her, and Billy Louise—Billy Louise had impulsively taken his head between her two hands, had looked deep into his eyes and then had kissed him wistfully on the lips. Then she had turned and fled up the path, waving him away up the trail. And though Ward never guessed that to her that kiss was a potent vow of loyalty to their friendship and a slap in the face of the doubt devils that still pursued her weaker moments, it set him planning harder than ever for that stake he must win before he dared urge her further toward matrimony.

It's a wonder that the kiss did not wipe out completely the somber mood that held him. That it did not, but served merely to tangle his thoughts in a most hopeless manner, perhaps proves how greatly the inner life of Billy Louise had changed her in those two weeks.

She changed still more in the next two months, however. There was the strain of her mother's precarious health which kept Billy Louise always on the alert and always trying to hide her fears. She must be quick to detect the first symptoms of a return attack of the illness, and she must not let her mother suspect that there was danger of a return. That much the doctor had made plain to her.

Besides that, there was an undercurrent of gossip and rumors of cattle stealing whenever a man stopped at the ranch. It worried Billy Louise in spite of her rebuilt belief in Ward. Doubt would seize her sometimes in spite of herself, and she did not see Ward often enough to let his personality fight those doubts. She saw him just once in the next two months and then only for an hour or so.

A man rode up one night and stayed with them until morning, after the open handed custom of the range land. Billy Louise did not talk with him very much. He had shifty eyes and a coarse, loose lipped mouth and a thick neck, and, girl-like, she took a violent dislike to him. But John Pringle told her afterward that he was Buck Olney, the new stock inspector, and that he was prowling around to see if he could find out anything.

Billy Louise worried a good deal after that. Once she rode out early with the intention of going to Ward's claim to warn him. But three miles of same thought changed her purpose. She dared not leave her mother all day, for one thing, and for another she could scarcely warn Ward without letting him see that she felt he needed warning, and even Billy Louise shrank from what might follow.

The stock inspector stopped again on his way back to the railroad. Billy Louise was so anxious that she smoothed her dislike and treated him nicely, which thawed the man to an alarming amiability. She questioned him artfully—trust Billy Louise for that—and she decided that the stock inspector or a very good actor. He did not, for instance, mention any corral hidden in a blind canyon away back in the hills, and Billy Louise did not mention it, either. He had not found any worked brands, he said. And he did not appear to know anything further about Ward than the mere fact of his existence.

"There's a fellow holding down a claim away over on Mill creek," he had remarked. "I'll look him up when I come back, though Seaback says he's all right."

"Ward is all right," asserted Billy Louise rather unwisely.

"Haven't a doubt of it. I thought maybe he might have seen something that might give us a clue." Perhaps the stock inspector was wiser than she gave him credit for being. He did not at any rate pursue the subject any further until he found an opportunity to talk to Mrs. MacDonald herself. Then he artfully mentioned the fellow on Mill creek, and because she did not know any reason for caution he got all the information he wanted and more, for mommie was in one of her garrulous humors.

After that the days drifted quietly for a month and grew nippier at each end and lazier in the middle, with meant that the short summer was over and that fall was getting ready to paint the wooded slopes with her gayest colors and that one must prepare for the siege of winter.

It was some time in the latter part of September that Billy Louise got up in the middle of a frosty night because she heard her mother moaning. That was the beginning. She sent John off before daylight for the doctor, and before the next night she stood with her lips pressed together and watched the doctor count mommie's pulse and take mommie's temperature and drew in her breath hardly when she saw how long he studied the thermometer afterward.

There was a month or so of going to and fro on her toes and of watching the clock with a mind to medicine giving. There were nights and nights and nights when the cabin window winked like a star fallen into the corral from dusk to red dawn. Ward rode over once, stayed all night and went home in a silent rage because he could not do a thing.

There was a week of fluctuating hope and a time when the doctor said mommie must go to a hospital—Boise, since she had friends there. And there was a terrible, nerve racking journey to the railroad. And when Ward rode next to the Wolverine ranch there was no Billy Louise to taunt or tempt him. John Pringle and Phoebe told him in brief, stolid sentences of the later developments and gave him a meal and offered him a bed, which he declined.

When the suspense became maddening after that he would ride down to the Wolverine for news. And the news was monotonously scant. Phoebe could read and write after a fashion, and Billy Louise sent her a letter now and then, saying that mommie was about the same and that she wanted John to do certain things about the ranch. She could not leave mommie, she said. Ward gathered that she would not.

Once when he was at the ranch he wrote a letter to Billy Louise and told her that he would come to Boise if there was anything he could do and begged her to let him know if she needed any money. Beyond that he worked and worked and tried to crowd the loneliness out of his days and the hunger from his dreams with complete bone weariness. He did not expect an answer to his letter—at least he told himself that he did not—but one day Phoebe gave him a thin little letter.

Billy Louise did not write much. She explained that she could only scribble a line or two while mommie slept. Mommie was about the same. She did not think there was anything Ward could do, and she thanked him for offering to help. There was nothing, she said pathetically, that anybody could do. Even the doctors did not seem able to do much except tell her lies and charge her for them. No; she did not need any money. "Thank you just the same, Ward." That was about all. It did not sound in the least like Billy Louise.

Ward answered the note then and there and called her Wilhelmia-mine, which was an awkward name to write and cost him five minutes of cogitation over the spelling. But he wanted it down on paper where she could see it and remember how it sounded when he said it, even if it did look queer. Farther along he started to call her Bill Lou, but rubbed it out and substituted Lady Girl (with capitals). Altogether he did better than he knew, for he made Billy Louise cry when she read it, and he made her say "Dear Ward" under her breath and remember how his hair waved over his left temple and how he looked when that smile hid just behind his lips and his eyes, and he made her forget that she had lost faith in him. She needed to cry, and she needed to remember and also to forget some things, for life was a hard, dull drab in Boise, with nothing to lighten it save a vicarious hope that did not comfort.

Billy Louise was not stupid. She saw through the vagueness of the doctors, and, besides, she was so hungry for her hills that she felt like beating the doctors with her fists because they did nothing to make her mommie well enough to go home. She grew to hate the nurse and her neutral cheerfulness. That is how the fall passed for Billy Louise and the early part of the winter.

ORDER CURBS ENEMIES

Aliens Must Get Permission to Travel in U. S.

President's Proclamation Requires Ali to Register—Their Activities to Be Carefully Guarded.

Washington, Nov. 20.—All alien enemies are required to register and to obtain permits for travel, under a proclamation issued by President Wilson.

Enemies also are prohibited from approaching within 100 yards of water fronts, docks, railroad terminals, or storage houses and are forbidden to enter or reside in the District of Columbia.

The proclamation, issued as a supplement to the one declaring a state of war with Germany, provides further that an alien enemy shall not, except on public ferries, be found on "any ocean, bay, river or other waters," within the United States. They are forbidden to fly in airplanes, balloons or airships and to enter the Panama canal zone.

The proclamation orders registration as follows:

"All alien enemies are hereby required to register at such times and places and in such manner as may be fixed by the attorney general of the United States, and the attorney general is hereby authorized and directed to provide such rules and regulations as may be practicable for registration of all alien enemies and for the issuance of registration cards to all alien enemies and to make and declare such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for effecting such registration.

"All alien enemies and all other persons are hereby required to comply with such rules and regulations; and the attorney general, in carrying out such registration, is hereby authorized to utilize such agents, agencies, officers and departments of the United States and of the several states, territories, dependents and municipalities thereof, and of the District of Columbia, as he may select for the purpose, and all such agents, agencies, officers and departments are hereby granted full authority for all acts done by them in the execution of this regulation when acting by the direction of the attorney general, and after the date fixed by the attorney general for such registration no enemy alien shall be found within the limits of the United States, its territories or possessions without having his registration card on his person."

The restrictions were imposed on free travel in the following section:

"An alien enemy shall not change his place of abode or occupation or otherwise travel or move from place to place without full compliance with any such regulations as the attorney general of the United States may from time to time make and declare; and the attorney general is hereby authorized to make and declare from time to time such regulations concerning the movements of alien enemies as he may deem necessary in the premises and for regulations for monthly, weekly or other periodical report of alien enemies to federal, state or local authorities; and all alien enemies shall report at the times and places and to the authorities fixed in such regulations."

Only Germans will be affected by the proclamation, as it specifies "enemies" and not "allies of enemies."

Hoover Warns Housewives to Hold Thieves for Police.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Housewives are asked by Food Administrator Hoover to aid in the capture of impostors who are robbing American homes by posing as government foodstuff collectors. U. S. ROUNDUP OF ALIENS STARTED Germans Given Twenty-Four Hours' Notice to Leave District of Columbia.

MANY TAKEN IN HOBOKEN

Federal Authorities, Aided by 500 Soldiers, Invade Entire River District—March Germans to Ellis Island.

Washington, Nov. 20.—A nationwide roundup by United States authorities of alien enemies, covering all places within the category of the president's proclamation issued to regulate the conduct of aliens, is expected to occur immediately. A raid made at Hoboken, N. J., is believed the forerunner of similar raids all over the United States.

Attorney General Gregory is preparing the general regulations under which disposition of enemy aliens in any part of the United States will be made.

The attorney general has begun with the District of Columbia, with respect to aliens, because this is a part of the country to which certain special regulations apply.

He gave instructions that all enemy aliens residing in the District of Columbia on the date of the declaration of war must leave the district by midnight of December 15.

He has ordered that all who come to the district since the declaration of war must leave the district today.

250 Seized at Hoboken.

New York, Nov. 20.—Drastic action, believed to have resulted from the proclamation issued by President Wilson, was taken by federal authorities in Hoboken.

Five hundred United States soldiers invaded the entire river front and searched every saloon, boarding house and restaurant.

They rounded up 250 persons, who either were Germans, or appeared to be Germans. Like a herd the men were marched down to the river front, where they were placed on a barge and taken to Ellis Island for internment.

The lives of hundreds of employees in a big 11-story manufacturing building on West Twenty-sixth street were imperiled, when an attempt was made to blow up the building by a dynamite bomb.

D'ANNUNZIO, FLYER, IS LOST

Italy's Famous Aviator Fails to Return After Air Raid.

Rome, Nov. 20.—Gabriele D'Annunzio, Italy's famous aviator, dramatist and writer, was reported to have failed to have returned from a recent flight over the enemy lines in northern Italy. D'Annunzio has been known as one of Italy's greatest fighting aviators. If D'Annunzio is dead, his friends will regard his sacrifice as a fitting climax to his career. They pointed out that D'Annunzio, always the poet, the artist and lover of the beautiful, has been fighting to save Venice, the art jewel of the world.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, spitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instantly, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

CARDS. What the Draftsman Does. Generally speaking, a draftsman, or draughtsman, is one who draws plans from instructions given him. A mechanical draftsman is an assistant to a mechanical engineer, and he draws the plans of the engineer's proposed works. If he is a mechanical engineer it will be plans of machines, bridges, etc. An architect plans buildings, and the draftsman, from instructions furnished him, draws the plans. The draftsman is largely a copyist. He creates nothing, but he gives expression to the ideas of his superior.

What the Draftsman Does.

The South Half of the Southwest Quarter of Section No. Nineteen, and the North Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section No. Thirty, in Township No. Twenty-one, North, Range Ten, East of the Fourth P. M., situated in the County of Lee and State of Illinois; Or, so much thereof, as may be sufficient to realize the amount found due complainant, principal, interest, costs of suit and expenses of sale, and which may be sold separately without material injury to the parties interested.

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW. You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers. It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

FORECLOSURE SALE BY MASTER IN CHANCERY.

SUGAR SALE CAUSES RIOT

Mayor Is Vendor but Calls Police to Quell Customers.

Brockton, Mass., Nov. 20.—Police reserves were summoned to maintain order at the city hall, where 9,000 persons, attracted by an announcement that Mayor McLeod would sell four tons of sugar, got beyond the control of the small squad of officers. Many persons were knocked down. Six women and several children were slightly injured. The mayor ordered the doors closed and suspended the sale until the police restored order.

Exposure Aches. Cold rain, winds, and dampness bring out the rheumatic aches. An application of Sloan's Liniment will soon have the blood circulating and the pain will disappear. For neuralgia, lame back, stiff neck, sprains, strains, and all muscle soreness. Sloan's Liniment can't be beat. No rubbing; it quickly penetrates and does its work without staining or clogging the pores. Better than plaster or ointments. For cold feet or hands try an application of Sloan's Liniment. SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days. This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SALT IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at once when Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then be fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

ITALIANS TAKE OFFENSIVE ON ASIAGO PLATEAU
Italian Army Headquarters in Northern Italy, Nov. 20.—Condition were virtually unchanged on the fighting front early in the day. A powerful attack is proceeding in the north between the Piave and Brenta rivers, the enemy throwing heavy masses into the line. The Italian artillery and infantry are holding tenaciously. There have been no further attempts to cross the Piave.
London, Nov. 20.—The Austrian official communication of Saturday, as received here by wireless, says:
"On the lower Piave reconnoitering detachments on the western bank of the stream had to be withdrawn before strong counter-attacks."
Austrian Unit Wiped Out.
Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Nov. 20.—The Austrians who forced their way across the Piave river above Zenson have been thrown into the river, drowned, bayoneted, killed or captured, until now not an enemy remains on the west bank at that most threatened point. The fight was one of the most fearful chapters of the war and one of the most glorious.

WILSON PASSES THE HAT
President Aids Y. M. C. A. Fund at Washington Theater.
Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson last night actively assisted in the Y. M. C. A. $35,000,000 war fund campaign by passing a hat through his own box and an adjoining one at a local theater.
FIGHT PACIFIST WORK
American Alliance to Offset Pro-German Propaganda.
Plan Is to Spread the Gospel Broadcast of "Why We Are at War"—Labor Leaders to Aid.
Chicago, Nov. 20.—To fight the pro-German propaganda with a pro-American and pro-ally propaganda of strength and unity is the plan of the Chicago branch of the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, which is being organized now.
Already 200 members have been enrolled and a meeting to perfect the organization will be called, probably next week. Victor A. Olander of the Chicago Federation of Labor and a member of the Illinois state council of defense, is temporary chairman.
"What the American Alliance of Labor and Democracy proposes doing is to fight propaganda with propaganda," said Mr. Olander.
"It will spread the gospel of 'why we are at war' to counteract the effect of the pacifists' favorite query, 'Why are we at war?'"
The branches throughout the country are being organized under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor. Many prominent Socialists and other radicals are enlisted in the work here.
Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 20.—A nationwide pro-American campaign to offset the secret pro-German propaganda in the ranks of American workers is planned by the American Federation of Labor.
The convention is expected this week to adopt the executive council's report, which outlines its "behind the government" war policy and its great pro-labor after-the-war reconstruction policy.
Last Stand of Beavers.
Far up in the fastnesses of the southern Rockies, hidden in one of the most inaccessible nooks that remain in this country today, what is probably the largest existing colony of beavers has established itself for a last stand. The beaver was once one of the most abundant of our American animals, but the ease with which he was trapped and the value of his fur soon drove him far on the road to extinction. Soon only the most stringent of protective legislation was able to save him, but now he seems to be "coming back," and wherever he finds a favorable location he increases rapidly.
